NELSON'S EMPLOYEES GIVE

ANNUAL HALLOWEEN DANCE
Presented among the many Halloween social functions was the annual Halloween dance of the employees of Nelson's store held last night in the hall in East Crawford avenue. About fifty couples were in attendance. The dance was charming in all its appointments and was one of the most delightful social affairs of the season. The hours were from 8 to 12 o'clock and throughout the evening the spacious hall, which was attractively decorated for the occasion, presented a gala scene. A color scheme of orange and black was cleverly carried out. The central lights were adorned with orange paper from which extended streamers which were fastened to all parts of the room. The side lights were capped with orange and black mini-dolls. Delightful refreshments were served during the evening. Too much credit cannot be given the committee composed of Mrs. Elmo Hahnbarger, Miss Helen Frank, and Miss B. Comiskey, for this successful manner in which the dance was carried out. Not the slightest detail in arrangements was overlooked and the guests report a wonderful time. Albert Hugel, advertising manager and decorator at Nelson's store, had charge of the decorations. CONCILIATORY
PEACE LASTING,
WELSHMAN SAYS

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 23.—A plea for peace—a conciliatory peace and a lasting peace that will forever preserve the world from a repetition of the carnage of the World War—was made by David Lloyd George, England's great war premier, before a great throng in Syria Mosque last night.

"The common sense of mankind cannot be counted upon to preserve peace," he declared. "When men's passions, national hatred and fear are roused," he asserted, "all reason disappears. Nothing is more dangerous than the fear of a brave animal and man is the bravest animal that God ever created. He is only a little lower than the angels." He little, and man he creates a fearful creature. And that is the end of the world today—fear.

"In 1871," he said, "when peace was made, it was a foolish peace. It was a peace of conquest, a peace of submission, a peace of confession, and the French then and in the following generations vowed vengeance.

"Then came the Boer war and the peace at the end of that war. I was a member of the cabinet which made the arrangements of that peace. That was a conciliatory peace. And when the World War came 25 years ago, I went into Germany South Africa from the Transvaal in defense of the British Empire.

Lloyd George also paid a tribute to Abraham Lincoln when, in discussing the peace made at the close of the Civil War, he said:

"When peace came in 1865, at that time, President Lincoln, in my judgment the greatest man who ever rose on this continent and one of the very great men of the world, pleaded for a peace of conciliation. His words were not heeded and what resulted? Chaos. Then the plan of President Lincoln was carried out, and today you have the great United States of America as a result of that policy of conciliation.

"Plague, pestilence, starvation, hunger, kill the feeble and the old. We have appointed commissions for this and commissions for that, commissions to look after one thing and commissions to look after another. For God's sake let us have a Commission of Mercy in the world—a Commission of Mercy to halt war and its murder and suffering and despair."

Lloyd George was introduced by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis as "the Abraham Lincoln of England, for the Abraham Lincoln of the world."

Much Excitement Over Booze Party on Farm Near Mount Pleasant

"Sonny" Price Thinks He's Shot But Physicians Find
He's Mistaken.

THREE SHOTS ARE FIRED

Woman's Screams Attract Officers and
They Arrest Italian After Chase of Several Miles; Find Shotgun, $250
Cash and Clothes Worth $200.

Special to The Courier.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Oct. 25.—Yesterday shortly after noon three shots and the screams of "murder" by a woman, reported by boys who heard the shots fired and the screams to Chief of Police Robert Smith, led the chief to investigate. The search led him to the barnyard of John Miele, who lives on the old Sheppard farm back of Diamond street, where he found Leonard Price, known as "Sonny" Price, lying there, moaning that he had been shot. Chief Smith sent Price with two men to the hospital and started in search of a man whom the boys said had been with Price. The search led through a cornfield, an old barn, a vacant house and the Lombardi mine, but nothing was found of the man, who was supposed to have done the shooting. After making this search Chief Smith went back to the Miele farm and learned that an Italian, the man wanted, was from Hecia.

Chief Smith called the district attorney's office at Greensburg and was ordered to go on to Hecia and look for the man, and advised that Deputy Sheriff M. P. McCullough would be sent here. Chief Smith, with Andrew Lasko and Glenn Harrison, driving an automobile, started to Hecia. Smith thought he would make inquiries at the Price office for the man. He noticed that the black lights were on for the Greensburg car to come into Hecia and, thinking that McCullough might come on the car, advised Harrison to wait. After the car came and they found McCullough was not on it they noticed a man with a suitcase who had been waiting on the car to go to Greensburg. When Smith got out of the car to go to the office, the man dropped the suitcase and ran. The officers pursued him and pulled him from under the street car bridge where he had hidden and took him to the office for identification. He proved to be the man they were looking for. It was learned his name was Pietro Mangler and that he had been in the office and collected the money due him, presumably to go to Italy, where he states that his wife and father live.

A search of the suitcase revealed a new $50 shotgun, $250 in money and about $200 worth of new clothes. He was brought to Mount Pleasant and locked up and information made against him. He was to have a hearing before J. S. Rhodes today. On his person was found a dagger and enough money to make the total in his possession $492.

With Mangler locked up, the police next turned attention to Price who claimed the Italian robbed him. This was also that he had a $10 bill and that also he had a $50 check from C. B. Muller. Then Price admitted that he and Mangler had been drinking in Howard street and had gone on to the Miele farm to drink.

Dr. G. T. McNeish and Dr. John F. Burkholder assured the officers that they didn't know where the shots had gone; that Price was not shot, but had his knee-cap wrenched off and that while he had a very bad leg his condition was not serious. The fracture was reduced at the hospital and today at the hearing an effort will be made to find out the cause of the excitement. No gun was found on Mangler, but people looking on say he fired and others say that drinks were to be bought and Price drew the money and insisted on paying for the drinks and that Mangler got the money. Finally Price admitted that he was just too drunk to know what did happen.

The screams of a woman are said to have emanated from the throat of Mrs. Miele. Mr. and Mrs. Miele own the farm.

At the borough building last evening it was stated that Mangler, before he left Hecia, had stolen tools belonging to miners and that they would make information against him today charging him with larceny.

The milk dealers in town held a meeting at the home of E. E. Nicholson Township Community Day 27th

On Saturday, October 27, at 10 o'clock the sixth annual community day of Nicholson township will open at the Willow Grove school. This has become a field day of great importance to the farmers and their friends in the southwestern part of Fayette county and the adjoining Howard county since their inception until the attendance last year reached over 400 during the day.

The one main feature to be held this year will be the poultry show. Birds from most every flock in the southern end of the county are expected to be displayed. P. A. Reese of State College will do the poultry judging as well as assist with the boys' and girls' judging contest at the show. The boys or girl winning first place in the poultry judging contest will receive a free trip to State College for his prize. A similar prize has already been won by a boy and girl in the pig club round-up at the county fair this year.

Beauty Soap is Just Pure Lathery Soap

There's a big difference in health and thorough, safe cleansing—with soap that combines effective lathering power with the highest purity. There's a big difference in value—you need the rich, thick kind that readily dissolves the grease and pore-refuse and cleans all the clogging, irritating matter out of the fine valleys of the skin. That's the lather that Sweetheart makes in cold or hot water, hard or soft, and it's a mild, soothing lather because of its strict purity.

Try Sweetheart once—you'll like it.

The very finest soap costs little to make and should retail at a low price. If sold without fillers, Sweetheart gives you soap of the highest quality at bottom price because it is nothing but pure soap—no coloring matter, heavy perfume, nor fancy wrapping to pay for.

Oral—fits the hand. Non-floating because all the air is squeezed out under heavy pressure to get the maximum amount of soap into the cake. Delicately scented.

Just try Sweetheart—from your grocer or the better druggist.

SWEETHEART TOILET SOAP

Remember the carefree days when as a hard-boiled boy you went fishing? You will be able to live them all over again in the leisure of a secure old age if you have an Equitable policy for a goodly sum maturing when you are, say, 55 or 60. Now is the time to begin saving. Many a man of 50 or older, who would really enjoy fishing, cannot go because he must keep his nose to the grindstone. A maturing Equitable policy will give you this money to buy leisure—and fishing tackle—in your old age.

Forbes, III, Hopes To Refute Serious Charges Next Week

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Investigation into alleged "scandalous conditions" in the Veterans Bureau marked time today while both investigators and defendants sought additional supporting evidence to bring before the Senate committee when it resumes the hearings next Monday.

The former head of the bureau, Colonel Charles R. Forbes, broken in health and weakened by illness and worry, was kept in deepest seclusion today. Medical advisers ordered that on account of the dangerous heart ailment from which Forbes is suffering he should be protected from excitement and exertion. His place of retirement was kept secret even from most intimate friends and former associates in the bureau.

Forbes left a sick bed to California and came 3,000 miles to demand a hearing before the committee. He was assured of an opportunity to make any statements he may choose.

Following sensational testimony yesterday involving Forbes in charges far graver than any of his friends imagined possible, counsel for the committee, John F. O'Rourke, said that Forbes would be permitted to give his side of the story next week. Chief interest today centered in the appearance of Forbes before the committee. Friends of Forbes were divided between those who feared his strength would not prove sufficient for the ordeal and those who asserted that in spite of the state of his health he would be able to refute the charges. Some of these latter friends declared Forbes' defense might develop greater sensations than have been the accusations.

Up to recently the United States supplied practically all of the flour imported into Cuba. In 1910 Canada supplied 1.0 per cent of Cuban flour imports, compared with 97.8 per cent from the United States. In 1920 and 1921 Canada supplied 5.4 and 8.8 per cent, respectively, while the United States supplied 94.4 per cent in both years. High School Scrimmages
In Mud at Fayette Field

Boys Handle Wet Ball Without Fumbling; Are Ready for Saturday.

NEW RECRUITS REPORT

The Conneltsville High School football team got its first workout in the mud last evening. The students had to endure the worst of weather and Coach Leroy put the team through a series of drills. The boys handled the ball well in the wet condition and in practice kicking also did exceptionally well.

It is becoming almost an interesting watch a scrimmage as a week and a half. No longer can the players be away from the field during the week. The work of the coaches has brought the playing of the boys to such a point that it is difficult to really play a game above another and when they really meet in a scrimmage they will try time.

What may be expected from the team Saturday is not to be known until the coaches are making reports on the team's progress. There may be a light scrimmage tonight but it will not be of any length.

BIGGEST TRAFFIC HANDLED WITHOUT SHORTAGE OF CARS

How Railroads Are Meeting Most Remarkable Transportation Situation.

HIGH PER DIEM MILEAGE

"The transportation situation which exists in the United States at the present time is an unusual one," says the railroad. "Ordinarily, the heaviest freight movement of the year occurs in October, and there is reason for believing the total traffic being handled has continued to increase up to the present time. Nevertheless, the business of the country is not suffering from any shortage of freight cars. On September 1 there was a net surplus of about 57,000 cars. Nobody can say just what the situation throughout the country is at present but it is probable that while there is a local shortage here and there, the surplus in other places exceeds these shortages. A year ago at this time there was a net shortage of about 140,000 cars."

"One reason why the success of the railroads in handling the present business without a car shortage is remarkable is that although a large number of new cars have been put in service recently, the number retired from service has been so large that the increase in the last year in the total number available has been very small. The number of new cars actually put in service from January 1 to September 1 was 116,117. A large majority of these new cars were put in service during the first six months of the year. Nevertheless, the number of freight cars owned by the railroads increased from only 2,307,297 in June, 1922, to 2,416,235 in June, 1923. The number in service this year has averaged over 50,000 less than in 1922."

"In spite of the efforts that have been made the railroads have not succeeded in securing an average loading of cars equal to that of 1920, with which comparison is made for the obvious reason that in that year the business handled was the largest up to that time. Comparing statistics for the first seven months of 1923 with statistics for the first seven months of 1920 it is found that the average tons carried per loaded car in 1920 was 28.6, while in 1923 it has been 25.2. It is somewhat difficult to account for this smaller average loading of cars. Bituminous coal gives the largest share of the tonnage of any commodity, and its average loading per car is relatively very large. Up to September 22 the railroads had transported more bituminous coal than in the corresponding part of any previous year except the war year 1918. The figure for the first 23 working days of 1918 was 429,346 tons. For 1917 it was less than 401,000,000 tons and for 1920 about 395,000,000 tons. For 1923 it was more than 402,111,000 tons."

"The most remarkable improvement in railway operation, and the one which has caused most to worry would be the railroads to handle the large increase in the satisfactory way they have, has been the increase in the average miles traveled by each car daily. In the first seven months of 1923 average miles per car per day was 33.5 while in the first seven months of 1922 it was 27.2. The average tons of freight moved on mile daily with each freight car has increased from 1.75 in 1920 to 2.7 in 1923."

"One very important reason for the improvement in the operating results secured is indicated by the fact that in the part of 1920 mentioned the average number of serviceable locomotives was 22,194, while in 1923 it averaged 22,076. This was an increase of 2,168, or about 11 per cent in the number of serviceable locomotives available. The average number of freight cars handled in each train in the first seven months of 1920 was 35.8, while in the corresponding seven months of 1923 it was 39.2. This increase in the number of cars per train caused an increase in the gross tons per train from 1,517 tons to 1,518 tons. In spite of the increase in gross tons per train the average speed of trains was increased. It being 16.1 trains was increased, it being 10.1 an hour in 1923."

"The increase in tons carried one mile thus far this year has been about seven per cent over the previous record business of 1920. This is a large increase but not an abnormal one. The notable fact is not the amount of the increase in business, but the marked efficiency with which the railroads have handled it."
